

Magdalena Emmons-Burzyńska: Poznan University of Technology in Poznan, Poland, Faculty of Chemical Technology.

The subject of my scientific interests is the recovery of critical metals from second sources (e-waste and spent automotive catalyst, SAC) using organic acids and DESs based on organic acids as a leaching agents. I conduct classes with students in the field of Information technology (projects, lecture), Reactor engineering (project) and Extraction methods (lecture).